Municipal Financing

PAST regimes at Ottawa have pushed the question of municipal financing under the carpet for two decades. In that time the problem has been compounded by the ever-firereasing drains of federal and provincial taxation, the fall in the value of the municipal tax dollar, and the mounting burden of caring for ever larger numbers of citizens without recourse to additional sources of revenue. Ih consequence across Canada there is no more *stubborn problem than that of municipal financing. Where is the money to come from to provide for the mushrooming needs?

 As junior partners in the provincial structure the municipalities have no direct voice at Ottawa. Their representations to the several provinces have flad to rely for remedy on the responsibility of the provincial regime in office and its varying ability to meet some part of the municipal claims. The 10 provinces in Canada have found different ways of meeting that continuing dilemma, but it would be short-sighted and idle to contend that any province has solved the problem. Ontario and Quebec have poured out hundreds of millions of dollars in support of municipal loan funds, British Columbia; the most expensive territory in Canada to supply, has made shift as best it could through the years. Other proximese-hard-up against revenue needs on their own account, have taken other steps, but there account, nave taken other steps, but there has been no one-piece solution anywhere.

The present era in the nation's development, with fast influx of new settlement, municipal populations which redouble the consolidated domands for new buildings, new works and more of them, cannot all be financed out of the municipalities, tooks, Balcon annotate. them, cannot all be financed out of the municipalities pockets. Before even expansion is considered, some Canadian municipalities are suffering from insufficient revenues to meet the existing requirements of their current budgets. Their ments of their current budgets. Their appeals to governments everywhere are a clear indication of that.

The rederated association of Mayors

The federated association of Mayors and Reeves has drawn attention to the urgency of the problem year after year without much avail. What is needed is a full-fledged inquiry into the whole municipal structure throughout Canada, with a view to finding some selutions which will be operative in the near, and indeed the immediate, future. Dealing with Canada's population growth at the base line, the municipalities must be helped in a more incisive way.

a more incisive way

MAYOR PERCY B. SCURRAH will be commended for his straightforward effort to interest the Canadian National Railway in Victoria's knocked about ferry schedules. As his worship states, there is certainly a need for a fast link hy water between this community and the main-land, via Sidney to some port of convenient access south of Vancouver. The development of Vancouver-Nanaimo ferry development of Vancouver-Nanainp ferry traffic has not supplied the answess for Victoria. There remains this patent need of fast, direct service over the shortest water gap that can be managed with Victoria as its ultimate supply point. If the CNR can supply such a service it would be fully patronized.

From the CNR's standpoint there may be initial obstacles to the proposal but

From the CNK's standpoint mere may be initial obstacles to the proposal, but that is not to say that the case need in any sense be degmed hopeless. Both trans-continental rail carriers in Canada and the case of their are at present pooling some of their common services to avoid duplication. This has applied to hotels, local trains between metropolitan centres, steamship services afield and in several other ways. The CNR might be reluctant to depart from a co-operative policy at one point. On the question of a suitable vessel the

On the question of a suitable vessel the issue also is somewhat complex. The CNR had the nucleus of a merchant freet on this coast in the intercity run but abandoned it, while retaining its Alaska trade. Subsequently it has not developed a ferry class type of vessel, such as would be required in the current proposal.

Against these initial-drawbacks there remains to be weighed, however, the merits of the scheme itself. It has some sound ones. In fast-changing times, Vietoria will not remain satisfied for long without sufficients and adequate ferry connections. Its growing population, of 120,000 in the region now, has business with the mainland every day in the year. The present roundabout method of getting there, affecting both passengers, and freights, has not proved satisfactory. If a shorter and speedier sea passage could be achieved it would be used from the start. This is apart entirely from the operation of the triangle route.

By laying the proposal before CNR executives while he was in the east.

By laying the proposal before CNR executives while he was in the east. Mayor Scurrah has supported the repeated endeavors of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce and spoken frankly for this community as a whole

Art in the Summer Months

VICTORIA is not Stratford, Edinburgh. VICTORIA is not Steatford, Edinburgh, Salzburg; it stages no international festival of music or arts. It is not London, New York or Paris, either; it cannot claim the range of cultural events that may be expected in a large cosmopolitan city. It has no dearth of attractions of this nature, however; if these are on a quieter, more intimate scale, less ambitious than those of well publicized centres, perhaps so much the better. The cultural phase of life is not necessarily to be shouted from the housetops but instead absorbed by individual interest. by individual interest

The program of special events arranged at Victoria College for the summer season makes it evident at least that not every Victorian will be spending his spare bours idling on the beaches. A fascinating potpourri of recitals and lectures on the arts—music, drama, painting—together with talks on radio, geology and other kindred matters, provides spice for a many-sided local mimi.—These events ould not be staged were there no audience for them, and the wide scope of the ence for them, and the wide scope of the program is proof of the large number of people interested in what is loosely called the finer things of life. These need not be accentuated out of due relation to life in general but they reflect the enjoyment that derives from things of the spirit.

In addition there are now the well accepted symphony concerts arranged again for Butchart's Gardens, raised this year from two concerts to three. All will take place this month, under three will take place this month, under the baton of Mr. Hans Gruber and, for one special, appearance, of Sir Ernest McMillan. The supporting artists are of chigh calibre, and undoubtedly the pro-ceedings will delight the expected large audiences. Summer may be the time for holidays, but for the stay-at-homes— including those who postpone their vaca-tions as order not to miss these cultural. attractions—there is fine aesthetic fare being prepared. The artistic life in this city is far from being stagnant; the opposite is in fact the case.

Yet the great, the near-great, and the not-so great, have chewed on a hot-dog with abandon. At baseball games its consumption is as standard an occupation as the seventhinning stretch. American presidents have given the frankfurter the accolade, one of them even being phorographed with it half-way down, his throat. Royalty has dined on it.

The hot dog is almost as typical a product in Canada as it is across the line as hamburger stands, midways and picnic grounds attest with con-siderable impact on the nostrils. Outcome. Nothing could be farther from the truth.

This is not meant to be vindictive (Syme is not known personally to the writer); nor is it a discussion of capital punishment in general. We have existing laws. Under them, Syme was found guilty or murder and was sentenced, Two appeal courts unanimously upheld the decision. The alternative of manshaughter was not entertained, indicating clearly that all the civilian and judicial opinions agreed on the nature of the crime.

There has been a barrage of organized pressures from a few persons concerned, in which some newspapers have participated. A few words from the side which has been slient publicly but quite critical privately should have been heard long ago.

The case is closed, but it should be made known that a great many residents of Duncan and district have other opinions than those which have been publicized. Let them not be insulted with advice from a man who was quife ready to take the life of a friend but has been addingly anxious to preserve his own skin. Like the careful family doctor, DeCourcy Intelligence Digest, whose business is the world's political health and recording of its pulse, has taken time out from mundane affairs to issue a spiritual prescription for Great Britain as Fullows.

affairs to issue a spiritual prescription for Great Brilain as follows.

"One looks back! what has saved Britam over and over again? What can we learn from the past to help us in our present extremity?..., History tells inst that Brifain has always recovered after a fresh spiritual awskening. She needs this now... She needs a vision of God's plan for Britain in world distory and of her true destriby in great affairs..., In short we need dedicated men and women who fear God and act accordingly.

"We were once powerful for the finest causes in history it is not for that we should humble ourselves and repent. It was God who made us roighty, and it is we who have sold our greatness for a miserable deception... Our national sin has been to worship scientific materials in. We have made a god of Science which has given us the Hoomh...

Methins this is good advice for Canada too, and now that Mr. Diefenbaker and his colleagues have been entrusted with the reins of government would it not be the highest wisdom to issue a proclamation dedicating hemselves and "all who are set in authority over us" for the task of government, in a national ceremony paying meet homage to Almighty God.

ACE REPORTERS OPEN WOUR EYES

A N editor's few words on a slip of paper have sent a reporter on the small of the world's biggest story. Now, in a series of Star Weekly exclusives, ace newspaper men and women of the century will re-live their "Biggest Story,"... playing the hunches, working the breaks, questioning, risking, digging for facts... waiting!

Actually the Biggest Story is dwarfed when these key newspapermen report their own experiences. Each week a different writer will entertain you with his or her personal assignment. All have a unique twist. They will cover a wide variety of subjects. When you read one, you'll want to read the series. This week's Star Weekly is on sale almost everywhere.

Municipal bonds offer a high degree of safety; secured by the taxing powers of their respective communities. They are widely held by Insurance Companies and individual investors who value their investment qualities and marketability.

We believe that investors should take advantage of current high interest rates to invest in municipal issues . . . some of which are guaranteed by Provinces . . . and which provide yields ranging from 5.35% to 6.50%, the highest return on this type of security obtainable for years.

A number of municipal issues which are available can be purchased at substantial discounts, thus affording opportunity for capital appreciation.

Enquiries will receive our prompt attention.
